1.3.61

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, April 19, 2005 in WeekWorks 7. About 3pm.

www.unc.bz

1. Who shall go, whom shall I send?
Will it be you, your spouse, your child, your parent?
Shall I send your friend, or foe, or whoever else but you?
Nay, I send you.
I choose you.
I am you and I choose Me.
I choose you.
I send you.

2. "Who shall you go to," you say?
I show you. I shall show you. I will lead you with My righteous right hand, and My still small voice, to guide you over hills many and terrains unknown, roads untraveled until now, traveled now by you, Me leading you to a righteous place to write My words and glory be. I love you.

3. Shall I make you righteous?
Shall I make you king?
Shall I make you Sarah's right hand or of Potiphar's household?
Shall I make you clay, clay, king, king of clay, king of righteousness?
Of what shall I make you and where shall I lead you?

4. Where will you be led this day and who shall lead you?
Are you leading yourself, or are you leading another?
Are you being led, or shed?
Are you being you, and whose roads are you traveling?
Where are you going and why are you going there?
What will you do there and what will you become for having arrived there?
What will you do and say now that you have been led there by forces you chose to listen to?

5. Who shall go, whom shall I send?

6. What are you waiting for? Food? Money? Helpers that you think appear as helpers, who leave you for the sake of bread morsels, in heat flee?

7. Who shall go, whom shall I send to do the work of the Lord, the work of the Lord, the work of the Lord that is already performed?

8. Who will walk in My ways and perform My words, My requests, My lanterns be for My lost sheep of Israel?

9. Who shall go, whom shall I send?
Will it be you?
Why will you answer?
Why won't you answer?
Are you afraid?
Do you know, know My voice?

I will answer and I will send you if you let Me.